

Powder Springs Pastor Launches Teaching Platform as Intentional Church Approaches Fourth Anniversary

Anthony Guidry brings practical teaching on relationships, home, and everyday faith to a wider audience at anthonyguidry.org

POWDER SPRINGS, GA — Anthony Guidry, Lead Pastor of Intentional Church, has launched a personal teaching platform at anthonyguidry.org, expanding the reach of a message he has spent his ministry building around: your life rises or falls on your relationships.

The launch comes as Intentional Church approaches its fourth anniversary on October 11, 2026. Guidry and his family relocated to North Georgia to plant the church, a modern, multicultural, multigenerational congregation founded on a single idea. Every story matters, and God can redeem any of them.

The new platform gathers Guidry's teaching in one place, alongside his story, the topics he speaks on, and a way for churches, conferences, and marriage and family events to invite him to speak. It also serves as the first public home for Intentional Love, a book on marriage and intentional living he is writing with his wife, Regina, who serves as Executive Pastor of Intentional Church.

A MESSAGE BUILT ON RELATIONSHIPS

Guidry's teaching is known for being practical before it is polished. He works in plain language, avoids insider church vocabulary, and ends every message with something a person can actually do that week. His subjects range widely, from anxiety and rest to commitment and everyday faithfulness, but they route back to the same place: the health of a person's relationships, beginning at home.

That focus is not accidental. Before full time ministry, Guidry served as a teacher and later an assistant principal in an inner city school, and he has served in nearly every corner of church work, from janitor to church planter. He holds a Bachelor's in Leadership and a Master's in Organizational Leadership from Grace Christian University.

QUOTE FROM ANTHONY GUIDRY

"Most homes do not fall apart in one loud moment. They erode in the conversations nobody was brave enough to have. I am not trying to impress anybody. I want people to leave with one honest thing they can do this week, because that is how a life actually gets built."

WHAT IS ON THE PLATFORM

The site includes Guidry's teaching library, an expanded biography, four teaching focus areas covering relationships and home, everyday faithfulness, peace and a sound mind, and commitment, along with a speaking inquiry page for event planners and a subscription list for updates and the release of Intentional Love.
